DECISION

I. INTRODUCTION

The above-entitled matter came before the undersigned as the result of a Notice of Pre-Hearing Conference and Appointment of Hearing Officer (“Notice”) dated October 21, 2021 and issued to the above-captioned taxpayer (“Taxpayer”) by the Division of Taxation (“Division”) in response to a request for hearing. A hearing was scheduled for November 2, 2022, at which time the Respondent did not appear. Since the Taxpayer was adequately noticed of hearing,¹ a hearing was held on November 2, 2022 before the undersigned. Pursuant to Section 2.7(G)(3) of the 280-RICR-20-00-2 Administrative Hearing Procedures (“Hearing Regulation”), a default judgment may be entered against the party not appearing at hearing. The Department was represented by counsel who rested on the record.

¹ Division’s Exhibit Nine (9) is the Notice dated October 21, 2021 and which sent by first class mail and certified mail by the Division to the Taxpayer. A prehearing conference was held on December 3, 2021 with the Division and the Taxpayer. A hearing was then scheduled for January 19, 2022. Division’s Exhibit Ten (10). By email, the parties requested a continuance, and a hearing was scheduled by email with the Taxpayer’s agreement for March 10, 2022. The Taxpayer then requested a continuance of that hearing date which was scheduled by agreement by email from the Taxpayer for April 6, 2022. That hearing date was then continued and rescheduled for July 20, 2022 by agreement of the Division and Taxpayer. The Taxpayer then requested a continuance of the July hearing date to a date between October 30, 2022 and November 5, 2022. In order to reschedule the hearing, the undersigned provided various dates as did the Division. Based on those suggested dates, the Taxpayer suggested by email that the hearing be on November 2, 2022 at 11:00 a.m. The undersigned then scheduled the hearing by email for November 2, 2022 at 11:00 a.m. Division’s Exhibit 12 (email chain of correspondence by Division and Taxpayer).

II. JURISDICTION

The Division has jurisdiction over this matter pursuant to R.I. Gen. Laws § 44-1-1 et seq., R.I. Gen. Laws § 44-30-1 et seq., and the Hearing Regulation.

III. ISSUE

Whether the Taxpayer owes additional income tax, interest, and a penalty for the tax year 2016.

IV. MATERIAL FACTS AND TESTIMONY

Principal Tax Auditor, testified on behalf of the Division. He testified that the Taxpayer filed a Rhode Island resident tax return for 2016 on April 17, 2017 and received a refund due to overpayment. He testified that the Division subsequently learned from the IRS that the Taxpayer had unreported Rhode Island income related to employment in 2016 because the Taxpayer had additional income reported on his Federal return that was not reported to Rhode Island. He testified that the Taxpayer did not file an amended return with the Division for the 2016 tax year. He testified that the Division calculated the additional tax owed by the Taxpayer due to his adjusted Federal income and notified the Taxpayer of his tax deficiency for the tax year of 2016. He testified that he spoke to the Taxpayer several times and explained to him that he could obtain his Federal tax transcript to provide to the Division, but the Taxpayer never provided said transcript. Division's Exhibits One (1) (Taxpayer's 2016 return); Three (3) (Notice of Deficiency dated December 6, 2020 showing calculation of revised tax owed due to Taxpayer's increased Federal income); Four (4) (Notice of Assessment dated January 9, 2020); Five (5) through Eight (8) (letters from Division to Taxpayer dated June 16, 2020, July 3, 2020, August 26, 2022, and October 22, 2022 regarding preliminary review, Federal transcript, hearing); and Eleven (11) (2016 statement of account for Taxpayer as of October 31, 2022).

V. DISCUSSION

A. Legislative Intent

The Rhode Island Supreme Court has consistently held that it effectuates legislative intent by examining a statute in its entirety and giving words their plain and ordinary meaning. In re Falstaff Brewing Corp., 637 A.2d 1047 (R.I. 1994). If a statute is clear and unambiguous, “the Court must interpret the statute literally and must give the words of the statute their plain and ordinary meanings.” Oliveira v. Lombardi, 794 A.2d 453 (R.I. 2002) (citation omitted). The Supreme Court has also established that it will not interpret legislative enactments in a manner that renders them nugatory or that would produce an unreasonable result. See Defenders of Animals v. Dept. of Environmental Management, 553 A.2d 541 (R.I. 1989) (citation omitted). In cases where a statute may contain ambiguous language, the Rhode Island Supreme Court has consistently held that the legislative intent must be considered. Providence Journal Co. v. Rodgers, 711 A.2d 1131 (R.I. 1998).

B. Relevant Statutes

R.I. Gen. Laws § 44-30-59 provides as follows:

Report of change in federal taxable income. – Subject to regulations of the tax administrator, if the amount of a taxpayer's federal taxable income reported on his or her federal income tax return for any taxable year beginning on or after January 1, 1971, is changed or corrected by the United States Internal Revenue Service or other competent authority, or as the result of a renegotiation of a contract or subcontract with the United States, the taxpayer shall report the change or correction in federal taxable income within ninety (90) days after the final determination of the change, correction, or renegotiation, or as otherwise required by the tax administrator, and shall concede the accuracy of the determination or state wherein it is erroneous. Any taxpayer filing an amended federal income tax return shall also file within ninety (90) days thereafter an amended Rhode Island personal income tax return and shall give any information that the tax administrator may require.

R.I. Gen. Laws § 44-30-83 provides in part as follows:

Limitations on assessment. – (a) General. Except as otherwise provided in this section the amount of the Rhode Island personal income tax shall be assessed within three (3) years after the return was filed, whether or not the return was filed on or after the prescribed date. For this purpose a tax return filed before the due date shall be considered as filed on the due date; and a return of withholding tax for any period ending with or within a calendar year filed before April 15 of the succeeding calendar year shall be considered filed on April 15 of the succeeding calendar year.

(b) Exceptions.

(1) Assessment at any time. The tax may be assessed at any time if:

(i) No return is filed;

(ii) A false or fraudulent return is filed with intent to evade tax; or

(iii) The taxpayer fails to file a report, pursuant to § 44-30-59, of a change, correction, or amended return, increasing his or her federal taxable income as reported on his or her federal income tax return or to report a change or correction which is treated in the same manner as if it were a deficiency for federal income tax purposes.

C. Whether the Taxpayer Owes Tax and Penalties for Tax Year 2016

It was undisputed that the IRS notified the Taxpayer that he had additional income for his 2016 tax year. As a result, the Taxpayer was required by R.I. Gen. Laws § 44-30-59 to amend his 2016 return as his 2016 income had changed (increased). It was undisputed that the Taxpayer did not file an amended return with the Division reflecting his change in Federal income. Pursuant to R.I. Gen. Laws § 44-30-83(b)(1)(iii), the three (3) year limit on the Division to assess personal income tax owed by a taxpayer does not apply when a taxpayer has failed to file a report of a change in income pursuant to R.I. Gen. Laws § 44-30-59. Therefore, the Division properly issued the Taxpayer a Notice of Deficiency and Assessment for additional tax owed for 2016 based on his Federally adjusted income. Pursuant to R.I. Gen. Laws § 44-30-84,² the Division imposed

² R.I. Gen. Laws § 44-30-84 provides in part as follows:

Interest on underpayment. – (a) General.

(1) If any amount of Rhode Island personal income tax, including any amount of the tax withheld by an employer, is not paid on or before the due date, interest on the amount at the annual rate provided by § 44-1-7 shall be paid for the period from the due date to the date paid, whether or not any extension of time for payment was granted. The interest shall not be paid if its amount is less than two dollars ($2.00).

interest for the late payment of the tax owed. Pursuant to R.I. Gen. Laws § 44-30-85,³ the Division imposed a late payment penalty for the late payment of the tax owed.

VI. FINDINGS OF FACT

1. On or about October 21, 2021, the Division issued a Notice of Pre-Hearing Conference and Appointment of Hearing Officer to the Taxpayer.

2. A hearing in this matter was held on November 2, 2022. The Taxpayer did not appear. As the Taxpayer was adequately notified of the hearing, a hearing was held with the Division resting on the record. The Taxpayer is in default for failing to appear at the hearing.

3. The Taxpayer did not file an amended 2016 Rhode Island personal income tax return after receiving notice from the IRS and the Division of a change in his Federal income for 2016.

VII. CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

Based on the testimony and facts presented:

1. The Division has jurisdiction over this matter pursuant to R.I. Gen. Laws § 44-30-1 et seq. and R.I. Gen. Laws § 44-1-1 et seq.

³ R.I. Gen. Law § 44-30-85 provides in part as follows:

Additions to tax and civil penalties. – (a) Failure to file tax returns or to pay tax. In the case of failure:

(2) To pay the amount shown as tax on the personal income tax return or the employer's withheld tax return on or before the prescribed date for payment of the tax (determined with regard to any extension of time for payment) unless it is shown that the failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount shown as tax on the return five-tenths percent (0.5%) of the amount of the tax if the failure is for not more than one month, with an additional five-tenths percent (0.5%) for each additional month or fraction thereof during which the failure continues, not exceeding twenty-five percent (25%) in the aggregate; or

(3) To pay any amount in respect of any tax required to be shown on a return which is not so shown, including an assessment made as a result of mathematical error, within ten (10) days of the date of the notice and demand therefor, unless it is shown that the failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, there shall be added to the amount of tax stated in the notice and demand five-tenths percent (0.5%) of the amount of the tax if the failure is for not more than one month, with an additional five-tenths percent (0.5%) for each additional month or fraction thereof during which the failure continues, not exceeding twenty-five percent (25%) in the aggregate.

2. Pursuant to R.I. Gen. Laws § 44-30-59, the Taxpayer was required to file an amended return due to a change in Federal income.

3. The Taxpayer owes tax on the 2016 unreported income as well as interest and a penalty.

VIII. RECOMMENDATION

Based on the above analysis, the Hearing Officer recommends as follows:

Pursuant to R.I. Gen. Laws § 44-30-59, the Taxpayer failed to file an amended Rhode Island personal income tax return for 2016 due to a change in his Federal income. Therefore, pursuant to R.I. Gen. Laws § 44-30-59, R.I. Gen. Laws § 33-30-83(b)(1)(iii), R.I. Gen. Laws § 44-30-84, and R.I. Gen. Laws § 44-30-85, the Division properly assessed the Taxpayer for tax owed and interest and late penalty owed, and the Taxpayer owes the current assessment as reflected in Division's Exhibit 11. The assessment shall be paid by the 31st day after the execution of this decision.
