COMBINED REPORTING:

For tax years beginning on or after January 1, 2015, a business which is treated as a C corporation for federal income tax purposes, and which is part of a combined group engaged in a single or common business enterprise – a "unitary" business – must file a combined return with Rhode Island. Under mandatory unitary combined reporting, R.I. Gen. Laws § 44-11-4.1, an entity treated as a C corporation for federal income tax purposes must report on its Rhode Island return not only its own income, but also the combined income of the other corporations, or affiliates, that are part of a combined group under common ownership and part of a unitary business.

An affiliated group of C corporations, as defined in IRC § 1504, may also elect to be treated as a combined group with respect to the combined reporting requirement imposed by Rhode Island General Laws. When such an election is made, the entities that appear on the federal consolidated return shall be considered a combined group for Rhode Island corporate income tax purposes.

The combined group shall file by checking the box for Combined Return on the 2023 RI-1120C form, and including a RI-1120C - CGM Schedule listing the name, federal employer identification number, and address for each member of the combined group. If a federal consolidated group has made the election to be treated as a combined group with respect to the Rhode Island combined reporting requirement, they may do so by checking of the box for Federal Consolidated Election on the RI-1120C - CGM Schedule.

The combined group shall be required to attach a computational schedule or schedules which report the income and apportionment information of all entities of the taxpayer member's combined group, as well as any supporting information required to substantiate the amounts in the computational schedule or schedules.

Taxable income of a combined group apportionable to this state:

(1) The taxable income apportionable to Rhode Island of each combined group shall be the product of: (i) the adjusted taxable income of the combined group, determined under the most recent version of the Combined Reporting Regulation, and (ii) the apportionment percentage, including in the numerator the total sales (receipts) associated with the combined group's business in Rhode Island, and including in the denominator the total sales (receipts) of all members of the combined group, which total sales (receipts) are associated with the combined group's business wherever located.

(2) The combined return uses the income, losses, and factors of all members included on the combined return to more accurately determine the taxable income of those entities that have corporate income tax nexus with Rhode Island.

See the most recent version of the Rhode Island Combined Reporting Regulation for more information.

All amounts should be listed in whole dollar amounts.
