ADVISORY FOR TAXPAYERS AND TAX PROFESSIONALS
January 24, 2025
Revised January 30, 2025¹

Tax filing season begins January 27, 2025 RI will follow federal season start date of 1/27/2025

PROVIDENCE, R.I. – The Rhode Island Division of Taxation announced today that it will be following the IRS 2025 tax filing start date of January 27 and due date of April 15 for the filing of Rhode Island Personal Income Tax returns for Tax Year 2024. Filing for business returns also opens on January 27 and the due date may be March 15 or April 15 depending on the tax form. Please note that because March 15, 2025 falls on a Saturday, the March due date will be March 17, 2025.

The Division reminds taxpayers that the preferred method of filing Rhode Island Personal Income taxes is through electronic means. Filing electronically has many benefits for taxpayers. It speeds up processing time for both state and federal returns, allows taxpayers to use direct deposit, and enables payments to be made electronically.

The following table outlines the returns that the Division accepts electronically through the Modernized Electronic Filing (MeF) platform:

Rhode Island Division of Taxation electronic filing
The Division will accept the following returns electronically this season:
Form RI-1040	Resident personal income tax return
Form RI-1040NR	Nonresident personal income tax return
Form RI-1120C	Business corporation tax return – C corporations
Form RI-1120S	Business corporation tax return – S corporations
Form RI-1065	For partnerships, LLPs, LPs, LLCs, single-member LLCs
Form RI-1041	Income tax return for certain trusts and estates

Preparers should check with their tax-preparation software providers to ensure their programs are updated in-line with the current filing season. Whether a preparer can e-file a given form will depend on the tax preparation software provider.

Filing electronically may also allow a significant number of filers to access preparation software for free through the “Rhode Island Free File” program. Through the Free File partnership, taxpayers that meet certain requirements can prepare their own federal and Rhode Island returns online using well-known tax preparation software. Free File enables these taxpayers to both prepare and electronically file (e-file) their returns at no charge.

Other programs available to Taxpayers that meet certain requirements include the Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) program and the AARP Tax-Aide program. Through both of these programs, qualified volunteers prepare and e-file returns for eligible taxpayers. Learn more about these programs and find out if you are eligible for Taxpayers that do not qualify for Free File or a volunteer tax preparation program can still file electronically. Many tax preparers will use e-filing compatible software to prepare and file returns. Preparers that file 100 or more RI personal and corporate returns are required to e-file.

The IRS maintains an online database for all authorized e-file providers that choose to be included in the database. To use the database, select Rhode Island from the state dropdown menu, or search by zip code.

For those preparing their taxes themselves without tax preparation software, Personal Income Tax Forms for Tax Year 2024 are available on the Division's website.

No matter how you file, you should always take care to ensure your filed tax returns are accurate.

Updates for Tax Year 2024

The 2025 Employer's Income Tax Withholding Tables Booklet which includes the Withholding Tax Payment Calendar is also available. Employers use the tables to calculate how much to withhold from an employee's pay for Rhode Island Personal Income tax purposes.

For employees and others, the Division recently posted the 2025 version of Form RI W-4, "Employee's Withholding Allowance Certificate," which employees use to adjust the amount of Rhode Island Personal Income Tax withheld from their paychecks.

Please see ADV 2025-01 for information regarding several recent tax changes that took effect on Monday, January 1, 2025. The Division has also published the Tax Year 2024 version of the annual Rhode Island Retirement Income Tax Guide. Rhode Islanders that have reached retirement age can find helpful information and examples in this publication.
