TAX EXPENDITURES REPORT

INTRODUCTION AND SUMMARY

Overview:

This portion of the Tax Expenditures Report gives a capsule version of the presentation. Information and statistics presented here are in summary form only and the reader is invited to review items of interest in their fullest form in the various sections of the report.

The Charge:

In accordance with Title 44, Chapter 48 of the Rhode Island General Laws [as amended] the Tax Administrator has the responsibility of preparing an annual tax expenditure report of which this report is the third. The first was issued in January, 1997.

As mandated, this report contains the analyses of 49 tax preference items - 25% of the list of tax preference items as of December 31, 1997. Also included is a list of the next 49 items chosen for analysis in the report to be issued in 2000.

Prepared By:

At the request of R. Gary Clark, Tax Administrator, this report was prepared by Virginia R. O'Shan, C.P.A. (Chief Revenue Agent - Research and Taxpayer Assistance).

Report Basics:

As directed in the charge, a "tax expenditure" is any tax credit, deduction, exemption, exclusion, modification, preferential tax rate, tax abatement, and tax deferral that provides preferential treatment to selected taxpayers, whether directly through Rhode Island General Laws or Constitutional provisions or indirectly through the adoption of other tax codes.
For ease of reference, where the tax preference item chosen applies to only one tax, it is presented with that tax. Tax preference items which apply to several taxes, are grouped together in the section of the report entitled "Other Taxes and Miscellaneous Tax Preference Items".

In order to present this report on a timely basis with the personnel and resources available, completion of the amounts of revenues foregone and number of taxpayers for each preference item were given the highest priority.

The other items required under 44-48.1-1 R.I.G.L. [as amended] are as follows:

"(3) to the extent allowable by law, identification of the beneficiaries of the exemption.

(4) a comparison of the tax expenditure to the tax systems of the other New England states, with emphasis on Massachusetts and Connecticut.

(5) determination of the beneficiary's state tax burden.

(6) to the extent allowable by law, identification of similar taxpayers or industries that do not enjoy the exemption."

Under current law, the report can not specifically identify the beneficiaries of the preference items; however, where possible, numbers and classes of beneficiaries for the preference items are presented.

Similarly, to identify those specific taxpayers which were not beneficiaries of the preference item would, in many cases, identify those taxpayers which were to an extent not allowable by law.

Without identifying individual beneficiaries, it is virtually impossible to present each beneficiary's state burden. The process is further complicated by businesses or individuals that have a number of available preference items. In taxes such as the Sales tax, the preference would reduce the burden to all consumers but the effect on each consumer would vary widely depending on income or circumstances. This request does not appear possible under current law and with the current resources.

The analyses performed on the 49 tax preference items chosen for this report include the following: (1) a legal citation to the Rhode Island General Laws [as amended]; (2) an estimate of the reliability of the revenues foregone for the preference item; (3) a description of the tax preference item; (4) the source of the information about the revenues foregone; (5) the dollar amount of revenues foregone presented rounded to the nearest thousand [$ ,000]; (6) the number of taxpayers claiming the preference item; and (7) a capsule version of the comparative information for the 5 other New England states.

Report Structure:

This summary is 1 of the 6 major parts into which the report is divided. The other 5 are: the Personal Income Tax section; the Sales and Use Tax section; the Business Corporation Tax section; the Other Taxes and Miscellaneous Tax Preference Items section; and the listing of tax preference items chosen for analysis in the 2000 report.

Results Summary:

The results of the analysis of the 49 items in this year's report are that the revenues foregone total more than $141 million with an average reliability of 3.65 where 1 is the most reliable and ending with 5 for preference items for which no reliable data exists. Items listed as N/A for reliability were not included in the average. The totals for each major section of this report rounded to the nearest thousand are:

TOTAL SELECTED FOR 1999 = 49
The Personal Income Tax is one of the three largest revenue sources for the State of Rhode Island. The 1997 Tax Expenditures report showed that there were 17 direct tax preference items and 15 indirect tax preference items in this chapter and 7 of these items were reported on in the 1998 report. This 1999 Tax Expenditures report focuses on 10 items.

Additionally, the 1997 report showed tax preference items available for personal income tax as well as for other taxes and information about them is found in the part of this report entitled Other Taxes and Miscellaneous Tax Preference Items.
DESCRIPTION OF TAX

Who Is Subject to the Tax

For 1997 the personal income tax was imposed on the Rhode Island income of every individual, estate and trust at 27.5% of the taxpayer's federal income tax liability. For 1998, the personal income tax rate was 27% of the taxpayer's federal income tax liability and for 1999 the rate will be 26.5%.

All the income of a Rhode Island resident is subject to tax, but for nonresidents only that income attributable to Rhode Island sources is subject to the tax.

TAX PREFERENCE ITEMS

INTRODUCTION:

The details of the Personal Income tax direct preference items included in this 1999 report are presented by showing: (1) a legal citation to the Rhode Island General Laws [as amended], (2) an estimate of reliability of the revenues foregone for the preference item, (3) a description of the tax preference item, (4) the source of the information about revenues foregone, (5) the amount of revenues foregone presented rounded to the nearest thousand, (6) the number of taxpayers claiming the tax preference, and (7) a capsule version of the comparative information for the five other New England states.

In cases where the tax's preference items come from other chapters and are also available to other taxes, reference is given to the separate part of this report dealing with Other Taxes and Miscellaneous Tax Preference items where each preference item is covered individually.
DIRECT TAX PREFERENCE ITEMS

1. Artists’ Modifications:
   Cite: 44-30-1.1
   Reliability estimate: 4

   This tax preference item reduces the federal adjusted income for Rhode Island purposes for the profit or gain realized by a writer, composer or artist from the publication, production or sale of a “work” if the “work” was created while the artist was residing in a statutory defined economic development zone and the gain is received while the artist is a resident of that zone. For this report, the only art economic development zone was in the city of Providence.

   Source: The information for artists’ modifications was derived from the personal income taxes filed with the Division during 1998 for tax year 1997.

   Revenues foregone: $ 0 No gains of this type were noted.

   Number of taxpayers: 0 No taxpayers claimed this preference item.

   Comparisons: No similar provisions found in any other New England state.

7. Credit for artwork exhibition:
   Cite: 44-30-24
   Reliability estimate: 2

   This credit against the Rhode Island tax for 10% of each $1,000. of the purchase price of qualifying artwork to a maximum purchase price of $10,000. The credit is available to taxpayers presenting written certification from the Board of Curators (see Chapter 42-97, R.I.G.L.) and amounts of unused credits may not be carried forward. No Board of Curators has ever awarded any certification.
Source: The information for artists’ modifications was derived from the personal income taxes filed with the Division during 1998 for tax year 1997.

Revenues foregone:  $0  No taxpayers claimed this preference item; see comment on Board of Curators above.

Number of taxpayers:  0  No taxpayers claimed this preference item; see comment on Board of Curators above.

Comparison: No similar provisions found in any other New England state.

8. Modification for family education accounts:
   Cite: 44-30-25
   Reliability estimate: 4

   Taxpayers who have set up family education accounts for their dependents treat the income from those accounts as a modification reducing their federal adjusted gross income for the purposes of calculating their Rhode Island tax. Recaptures resulting from nonqualified withdrawals from family education accounts are treated as modifications increasing federal adjusted gross income for both resident and nonresidents.

Source: The information for this modification was derived from the personal income taxes filed with the Division during 1998 for tax year 1997.

Revenues foregone:  $0  No taxpayers used this preference item.

Number of taxpayers:  0  No taxpayers used this preference item.

Comparison: No similar provision found in any other New England state.
24. Federal adjustment - alimony paid:
   Cite: Internal Revenue Code Section 215
   Reliability estimate: 3

   This tax preference item comes from the federal income tax basis of the Rhode Island filing. As such it comes from the federal determination of tax liability; more specifically, the preference item is allowed for alimony or separate maintenance paid. The deduction is found as part of the determination of the payor’s federal adjusted gross income.

   Source: State of Rhode Island Tax Model

   Revenues foregone: $1,000,000.

   Number of taxpayers: Statistics not furnished by the Tax Model.

   Comparison:
   - Connecticut: Connecticut’s income base provisions begin with federal adjusted gross income and, therefore, allow this item since it is part of the determination of the payor’s federal adjusted gross income.

     Connecticut Law Cite: Title 12, Chapter 229, Section 12-711(3)

   - Massachusetts: Massachusetts’ provisions include a deduction from total 5.95% income for amounts paid to former spouses for alimony or separate maintenance under court order.

     Massachusetts Law Cite: Chapter 62, Section 2

   - Maine: Maine’s personal income tax base is the federal adjusted gross income as defined by federal law which, by application, allows a deduction for alimony paid.

     Maine Law Cite: Title 36, Part 8, Section 5121
New Hampshire: No similar provision found.

Vermont: Vermont’s provisions include a similar deduction in the calculation of Vermont taxable income.

Vermont Law Cite: Title 32, Subtitle 2, Part 3, Chapter 151, Section 5888(A)

25. Federal deduction - standard
   Cite: Internal Revenue Code Section 63
   Reliability estimate: 2

   This tax preference item comes from the federal income tax basis of the Rhode Island filing. As such it comes from the federal determination of federal tax liability; more specifically, the preference item is allowed for a federally-determined minimum amount. The deduction is found as part of the determination of the taxpayer’s federal taxable income.

   Source: State of Rhode Island Tax Model

   Revenues foregone: $66,000,000.

   Number of taxpayers: Statistics not furnished by the Tax Model.

   Comparison: Only Maine and Vermont have similar provisions.
   Maine: Maine’s provisions include a standard deduction for resident taxpayers which conforms to the taxpayer’s allowable federal standard deduction.

   Maine Law Cite: Title 36, Part 8, Section 5124-A

   Vermont: Vermont’s provisions come from the Vermont basis for tax [federal determination of tax liability]. Since the deduction is found as part of the determination of the taxpayer’s federal taxable income, it can be said that there is a comparable provision.
Vermont Law Cite: Title 32, Subtitle 2, Part 3, Chapter 151, Section 5823.

28. Federal credit - child/dependent care:
   Cite: Internal Revenue Code Section 21
   Reliability estimate: 3

   This tax preference item comes from the federal income tax basis of the Rhode Island filing. As such it comes from the federal tax liability as one of the federal credits allowed for Rhode Island purposes. In general, a taxpayer can claim the federal credit of up to 30% of expenses if he/she pays someone to care for a dependent who is under age 13 or to care for a spouse or dependent who is unable to care for himself/herself. The expenses must be paid so that the taxpayer can work or look for work.

   Source: Statistics of Income Bulletin, Volume 17, Number 4

   Revenues foregone: $2,359,000.

   Number of taxpayers: 24,682

   Comparison: Only Vermont has a similar provision.
   Vermont: Vermont’s provisions include allowing the amount of the federal credit in the calculation of the federal tax liability which is the basis of the Vermont tax.

29. Federal credit-elderly or disabled:
   Cite: Internal Revenue Code Section 22
   Reliability estimate: 3
This tax preference item comes from the federal income tax basis of the Rhode Island filing. As such it comes from the federal tax liability as one of the federal credits allowed for Rhode Island purposes. In general, a taxpayer can claim the federal credit of up to $1,125 if he/she is a qualifying individual and his/her income is within certain, federally-determined limits.

TAX EXPENDITURES REPORT

SALES AND USE TAX
TITLE 44, CHAPTERS 18 AND 19, R.I.G.L. AS AMENDED

SUMMARY

The Sales and Use Tax is one of the three largest revenue sources for the State of Rhode Island. The 1997 Tax Expenditures report showed that there were 76 available tax items of various types for this chapter. Included in these 76 are 2 items noted as not considered to be preference items for purposes of reporting - items bought by nonresidents before 7/1/47 and items excluded if subject the use tax. Of the remaining 74 items, 13 were reported on in the 1998 report. This 1999 Tax Expenditures Report focuses on 13 items.

DESCRIPTION

The tax applies to retail sales of all tangible personality and public utility services unless exempted. Any sale is a retail sale if the property sold is not to be resold in the regular course of business; thus, a manufacturer or wholesaler is making retail sales when he or she sells items which will be used, rather than resold, by the purchaser.
Imposition and Collection of the Sales Tax

The Sales tax is imposed on the retailer (seller) at 7% of the gross receipts from taxable sales and the retailer collects from his or her customers all or a part of the tax which he or she pays to the state.

Use Tax

Complementing the Sales tax, a Use tax is imposed at 7% on the storage, use or other consumption in this state of all tangible personalty (unless exempted), including a motor vehicle, airplane or trailer purchased from any retailer.

TAX PREFERENCE ITEMS

INTRODUCTION:

The details of the Sales and Use Tax direct preference items included in this 1999 report are presented by showing: (1) a legal citation to the Rhode Island General Laws [as amended], (2) an estimate of the reliability of the revenues foregone for the tax preference item, (3) a description of the tax preference item, (4) the source of the information about revenues foregone, (5) the amount of revenues foregone presented rounded to the nearest thousand, (6) the number of taxpayers claiming the tax preference, and (7) a capsule version of the comparative information for the five other New England states. Because of the nature of the Sales and Use Tax, there are no indirect preference items.

DIRECT PREFERENCE ITEMS

13. Demonstration Boats:
   Cite: 44-18-26.1
   Reliability estimate: N/A
This provision allowed boats used for demonstration and display to be exempted. Boats are now generally exempted by 44-18-30(49) which was reported on in the Tax Expenditures Budget report dated January, 1998.

BUSINESS CORPORATION TAX
TITLE 44, CHAPTER 11, R.I.G.L. AS AMENDED

SUMMARY

The Business Corporation Tax is one of the three largest revenue sources for the State of Rhode Island. The 1997 Tax Expenditures report showed that there were 22 available direct tax preference items of various types in this chapter and 3 of these were reported on in the 1998 report. This 1999 Tax Expenditures Report focuses on 6 items.

Additionally, the 1997 report showed tax preference items available for Business Corporation tax as well as for other taxes and information about them is found in the part of this report entitled Other Taxes and Miscellaneous Tax Preference Items.

DESCRIPTION OF TAX

Corporate Tax Basics

Corporations deriving income from sources in Rhode Island or engaging in activities for the purpose of profit or gain are required to pay a tax of 9% of net income as reported to the Federal Government and apportioned to Rhode Island. The minimum Business Corporation Tax is $250.

3. Banking Institutions -- Excise Tax:
Cite: 31-36

For the privilege of existing as a banking institution during any part of the year, each state bank, trust company, or loan and investment company in the state must annually pay an excise tax to the Tax Administrator measured by:

1) 9% of its net income for the preceding year, or
2) $2.50 per $10,000 or fraction thereof of its authorized capital stock as of the last day of the preceding calendar year.

The tax payable is the higher of the two. A national bank within this state must only pay the excise tax measured by #1 above. The minimum tax payable is $100. The tax is self-assessed and must be filed and paid on or before March 15 of each year. Banks which have their principal place of business or a branch in Rhode Island will apportion their net income under the Tax Administrator’s rules and regulations.

9. Motor Carrier Fuel Use:
Cite: Title 31, Chapter 36.1

A tax is imposed on motor carriers at the rate of twenty-eight cents ($0.28) per gallon on the use of fuel for the propulsion of vehicles weighing over 26,000 lbs. gross vehicle weight; having 3 or more axles regardless of weight; or are used in combination and the gross weight of the combined vehicles exceeds 26,000 lbs. on public highways in Rhode Island.

Effective July 1, 1996 the State of Rhode Island became a participant in the International Fuel Tax Agreement (IFTA). Fundamental to IFTA is the concept of “base stating”. “Base stating” allows a motor carrier to be licensed in one state for the purpose of fuel tax reporting rather than licensing and filing in every state in which the carrier operates.

TAX PREFERENCE ITEMS APPLICABLE TO MORE THAN ONE TAX

This portion of the 1999 Tax Expenditures Report covers those tax preference items which are available to more than one tax.

The 1997 Tax Expenditures Report listed 19 such items of which 3 were chosen for the 1999 report.

The details for these tax preference items are presented by showing the name and description of the preference item and (1) a legal citation to the Rhode Island General Laws [as amended], (2) an estimate of the reliability of the revenues foregone for the preference item, (3) a description of the tax preference item, (4) the source of the information about revenues foregone, (5) the amount of revenues foregone presented rounded to the nearest thousand, (6) the number of taxpayers claiming the tax preference and (7) a capsule version of the comparative information for the five other New England states.
5. Apprenticeship credits:

A taxpayer who is an employer and employs a machine tool, metal trade apprentice or plastic process technician apprentice enrolled and registered under the terms of a qualified program will be allowed a credit against the tax imposed by Chapter 11 of Title 44. The number of apprenticeships for which tax credit is allowed must exceed the average number of apprenticeships begun during the 5 preceding years. The amount of the credit is 50% of the actual wages paid to the qualifying apprentice or $4,800 whichever is less. The credit is not refundable and amounts of credit not deductible in the taxable year may not be carried over to the following year.
