

Entity filing requirements

Every entity registered with the Rhode Island Secretary of State may have filing requirements with the Rhode Island Division of Taxation, even if no business is conducted within Rhode Island for a particular year.

- An entity treated as a C corporation for federal tax purposes shall be required to file Form RI-1120C and pay the Rhode Island business corporation tax each year, generally 7 percent of net income, as set forth in Rhode Island General Laws (RIGL) § 44-11-2. The minimum tax is $450 per year for tax years beginning on or after January 1, 2016.
- An entity treated as an S corporation for federal tax purposes shall be required to file Form RI-1120S and pay the annual minimum tax as set forth in RIGL § 44-11-2, which is $450 for tax years beginning on or after January 1, 2016.
- Any limited liability company (LLC) not treated as a corporation for federal tax purposes shall pay an annual charge equal to the minimum business corporation tax, which is $450 for tax years beginning on or after January 1, 2016. This includes a single-member LLC (SMLLC) and any LLC treated as a disregarded entity for federal tax purposes. Form RI-1065 shall be filed for any tax year beginning on or after January 1, 2012. For tax years prior to 2012, Form RI-1120S shall be filed to pay the annual charge.
- Entities treated as partnerships for federal tax purposes shall file Form RI-1065. Any limited liability partnership (LLP) and any limited partnership (LP) for tax years beginning on or after January 1, 2012 shall be subject to an annual charge equal to the minimum business corporation tax, which is $450 for tax years beginning on or after January 1, 2016.
- Pass-through entities with members, partners, etc., who are nonresidents of Rhode Island, shall also file Form RI-1096PT reporting the income flowing through and the amount of tax to be withheld for the nonresidents. Nonresident individuals and entities shall be required to file the appropriate Rhode Island tax returns reporting the pass-through income and any pass-through withheld tax. In some instances, Form RI-1040C, "Composite Income Tax Return," may be filed.

For corporation tax returns, partnership returns, and individual income tax returns, there is no registration requirement with the Division of Taxation; the filing of the first return is sufficient notice to establish an account.
